Northgate Halts Service; New Company Wants Permit

Daly City Commuters Remain Stranded

Northgate Transit Co. buses could be back on the street this week if insurance for its vehicles that is acceptable to the State Public Utilities Commission can be obtained, the City Council in Daly City was told Monday.

Last week, the insurance policy on Northgate's buses expired and the PUC ordered them off the streets, leaving thousands of Daly City area residents with no way to get to work.

Monday, some two dozen bus driver-owners attended the council meeting at City Hall to push for issuance of a permit to a newly formed company — Daly City Transit Systems, Inc.

And while Councilman McRobert Stewart said it was "time to get tough" with Northgate and condemned company officials for not setting aside money periodically to pay for the insurance, fellow Councilman Paul Hupf voiced concern over the complex legalities that might arise if another company is granted an operator's permit.

Hupf said Northgate might battle issuance of such a permit in the courts, with Daly City possibly losing a costly decision.

Carlos Cook, president of the Daly City Transit Systems Inc., told the council he could have 12 buses operating throughout the city at 15 minute intervals, if the city would issue him a permit — even a temporary one.

Some of Cook's drivers recently were rehired by Northgate to operate on routes, Cook told the council.

If they pulled their buses off these routes, the company could not operate, Cook said.

The dispute between Northgate and about 18 of its independent contracted owner-operators arose last year over alleged poor service to patrons of the line.

Costs of the affiliation with Northgate also was hurting the owner-operators, it was explained at the time.

These drivers left to form their own company — Daly City Transit Systems Inc. — and took the matter before the PUC.

The issue remains in the San Mateo County Superior Court and before the PUC, it was understood.

Stewart demanded that the PUC make an immediate determination on the Northgate matter.

The former mayor also suggested Daly City might take over the system and give a franchise to a "transit company that can operate."

Hupf, citing myriad legal points that could put the city in a bind if another permit is issued, said he "refused to be stampeded into any action."

He said there was no doubt in his mind that the new company had the good faith of its drivers and others concerned with the issue "but good faith in itself is not sufficient."

An emotional outburst by senior citizen spokesman Julius Castellan, supporting the new company, was abruptly halted by Hupf, who charged Castellan was only "confusing the issue" and that his arguments would have no basis in a court of law.

"How long are you going to keep people of Daly City without transportation?" Castellan asked.

"Until we get legal advice from our city attorney," Mayor Victor Kyriakis replied.

Kyriakis asked if Cook would be interested in an interim permit to operate, a permit that would be revokable at the pleasure of the City Council.

"Yes . . . we would be willing and able to accept that," Cook said.

A special council meeting will be held Monday to discuss the matter further.

City Atty. Albert Polonsky is expected to review several legal points regarding the issue and report back to the council. Cook, at the request of Hupf and Kyriakis, will provide information on his corporation, including assets.

Saving the City A Lot of 'Green'

By FRANK LaPIERRE

August Conci's green thumb is saving Daly City a lot of green — money, that is.

Since his retirement from the city's Park Department in 1973, the 67-year-old gardener has devoted his time to building a city nursery at the corner of 89th Street and Sullivan Avenue.

For his time, Conci receives $475 month.

He undoubtedly has saved the city thousands of dollars through his efforts.

Last year, Conci, who previously worked for $1,400 per month when he was a salaried city employe, gave away 14,000 evergreen trees to be planted around homes and businesses in the city with the approval of the City Council.

"Five years from now these trees will change the whole atmosphere of the city," Conci says, pointing to the mostly barren hills flanking the county's second largest municipality.

Prior to Conci's starting the nursery, the city purchased its shrubs, flowers and trees from outside sources.

Now, Conci and Matias Soldonia, an assistant who helps out once a week at the nursery, make their own cuttings and raise their own trees and shrubs for the city.

Evergreens are grown from seeds purchased in Santa Barbara for about $14 a pound, Conci said.

A pound of seeds contains some 20,000 future trees, it was explained.

After two years, and a series of transplants from beds to flats to gallon size cans, the evergreens are ready for distribution to homeowners, or for use at city parks and businesses in the community.

Including the original cost of the seedlings, gallon cans (which are reused) and labor, the total cost for a "free" evergreen is about 33 cents.

This same tree would cost more than $1.50 if purchased at a commercial outlet, it was explained.

The idea to have a city-operated nursery was the late Bud Lycett's.

He convinced both fellow councilmen and city staff over a five year period that it would be far cheaper to raise their own shrubs, trees and flowers.

At the time, Conci was about to retire under the current retirement system rules.

"I wanted to keep busy. I have no family and gardening is all I know," Conci said. "This job gives me something to do. And it is really helping my city, I feel."

After a meager start, the small nursery now boasts an array of growing things — Monterey Pines, Monterey Cypress, European Sycamores, Cedars, Eugenias, Italian Stone Pine, Maple, and infinitem.

There are some 30 varieties of plants at the nursery, most made from cuttings and planted by Conci and Soldonia.

If it is possible for one man to change the looks of a city, Conci is doing it — with a green thumb.

HEW Raps Jeff Aid Program

The Jefferson Elementary School District's Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) program is again the subject of Department of Health, Education and Welfare criticism.

The federal government's Office of Education previously had demanded the Daly City district "show cause" why its funds should not be cut off for alleged violation of fund application provisions dealing with the shifting of teachers and students to achieve racial balance.

Now, it has found numerous deficiencies in the program's management, based on an on-site review by a Office of Education review team.

Correspondence received by the district from John A. Summerfield, the Office of Education's area administrator, and Iris Black, the program officer, made these assertions:

• The district's administrative staff appears lacking in knowledge about HEW accountability requirements to justify requests for expenditures.

This is reflected, the letter stated, in the administrative procedures in processing requests for expenditures where necessary documentation and data were not readily accessible to support cost effectiveness.

• Consultant records (were) very superficial and incomplete.

• A conference attended by the project director in Atlanta, Ga., was not in accordance with the district proposal and is not an allowable expense. The total cost of $450 was disallowed.

• The purchase of the Education Daily is not sufficiently connected to ESAA management needs to be a justifiable ESAA expense. The cost of $198 was disallowed.

• No records were made available detailing the purpose and use of . . . materials (purchased from White Lumber Co.) relating to ESAA activities on a purchase order dated 12-3-74 for Brown School, $317.39.

• The cost of $190.27 for a paper cutter ordered in January, 1975, seems high and questionable as to its specific need related to the ESAA program.

• Relative to movement of portable buildings for Pauline Brown School, there is insufficient evidence of free competition in the bidding.

• The review team found records indicating confusion and inefficiency in the hiring and regrading of classified personnel involving the processes and procedures utilized by the business office, the ESAA administrative office and the Civil Service Commission."

• In reviewing the operational activities of the Educational Resource Center, it is not clear which activities are identifiable as legitimate ESAA activities and those which are general educational activities. The evidence of documentation or data to support ESAA activities at the center was not available.

The "apparent high cost" of some office equipment also was questioned, as were the expenses incurred when a reading consultant from Arlington, Va., visited the district. That bill included consultancy fees, hotel and airline expenses.

Records show, according to the HEW letter, that two buildings were relocated to Pauline Brown School, one for $2,400, the other for $2,100.

The HEW listed specific recommendations. Required actions by April 25 also were spelled out.

Mountain Development: 'An Economic Boon'

Development of San Bruno Mountain will not be detrimental to Daly City or San Francisco, former Daly City mayor McRobert Stewart said Monday.

Councilman Stewart was responding to questions asked of him and the City Council by Del Schembari, of 255 Bellevue Ave., Daly City at a public meeting on March 10.

Schembari submitted a petition to the city on behalf of six members of a group calling itself the "Daly City Branch of Save San Bruno Mountain."

The petition asked Daly City to support a move to turn the entire mountain into a park.

At that time, Stewart said he would respond to Schembari's questions in writing.

Stewart, in his response, said the mountain development — which could someday boast a population of about 23,000 — will allow a greater housing choice to residents of the Bay Area.

Included in Schembari's questions was the effects any mountain development might have on noise from aircraft, traffic, schools, overtaxing of the present water supply and inadequacy of the sewage system.

Stewart blamed San Francisco's procrastination on upgrading its sewage treatment system for creation of any problems in this area, pointing out the mountain development will span a 15 year period and San Francisco is now modernizing its system.

Stewart said he knew of no reports to indicate the area's water supply would be exhausted by any mountain development.

And traffic generated by the complex, for the most part, would use state routes and not city streets to get to jobs on the Peninsula, Stewart said.

"I am concerned about the effect on city streets if the majority of the traffic goes into San Francisco," Stewart said. "The problem will be more fully explored if the development is allowed."

As for the Association of Bay Area Governments (ABAG) reviewing the development, thus relieving San Mateo County of that responsibility, Stewart said:

"Review of the development by ABAG will not . . . be at all beneficial. The regional impact is addressed in the Environmental Impact Report and additional review only delays answering the real question of whether or not the mountain can or should be developed."

Aircraft noise will pose little problem, inasmuch as planes fly around the mountain or through the so-called "Daly City Gap" on landings and takeoffs, Stewart said.

Not only would the mountain development provide jobs and housing, it also would become "manageable open space" and "not an open garbage dump that presently exists," said Stewart.

Noting that Daly City has not taken an official stance on the mountain matter, Stewart, a member of the Local Agency Formation Commission (LAFCO), said, "In a period of recession, I feel that the development would be an economic boon for Daly City and the North County."

'Crib Deaths' Claim Two Babies

Two Daly City infants died within 24 hours of each other in the city Saturday and Sunday nights — both apparently victims of what is commonly known as "crib death."

Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) is suspected of claiming the life of Latonya N. Sims, three weeks, daughter of Robert G. Cynthia Sims, of 324 Winchester Ave., about 11 p.m. Saturday.

Some 24 hours later, at 11 p.m., six-week-old Fernando Ramirez, son of Romane and Lila Ramirez, of 26 Garwood Street, was found dead in bed.

In both cases, mouth-to-mouth resuscitation failed to revive the babies, police said.

The infants were taken to Mary's Help Hospital where they were pronounced dead on arrival.

DC Mayor Pushes Bid

N. County Seeks Extra Judge

Daly City Mayor Victor G. Kyriakis today called upon the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to support assignment of an additional Superior Court judge to the South San Francisco Courthouse if Assembly Bill 881 becomes law.

AB 881 increases the number of Superior Court judges in San Mateo County from 13 to 15.

It must first be passed by the State Legislature and signed by Governor Brown.

Kyriakis, in a letter to the county supervisors, said it is his feeling that the North County is being given less than its fair share under the present distribution system — one Superior Court judge in South San Francisco.

"With half the county's population living in Northern San Mateo County, and with the recent expansion of the courthouse in South San Francisco, it is incumbent upon the board to support the assignment of one of these new superior court judges to South San Francisco," Kyriakis said.

Kyriakis also will attempt to enlist support of other North County cities in his fight to get the additional Superior Court judge in South San Francisco.

Health Center Seeks to Bar Medic

The Guadalupe Health Center in Daly City has filed suit in Superior Court seeking an order prohibiting a woman physician fired by the center March 19 from continuing to practice at the location.

Superior Court Judge Melvin E. Cohn has issued a temporary restraining order banning Dr. Amparo Haskell from the center and has scheduled a hearing for April 22 at 9:30 a.m. on an order to show cause why the prohibition should not be permanent.

The suit filed by attorney Ralph L. Jacobson, of Berkeley, on behalf of the health center, said that Dr. Haskell, who was hired Feb. 1, 1975, was notified of her termination in writing March 19 because of alleged breach of duty and habitual neglect of duty.

The complaint states that Dr. Haskell willfully ignored her notice of termination, that she continued to arrive periodically at the center and purports to act as an employe of the center.

It also is asserted that the defendant has countermanded lawful orders of staff physicians to the staff, has disrupted treatment of medical patients by interfering with activities of the health care staff, has purported to act and conduct business in the name of the center with governmental agencies and private businesses, has interfered and disrupted attempts to recruit additional staff physicians.

The presence of the defendant upon the center premises "interferes with the delivery of medical care to patients," the suit asserts.

LABOROUS TASK

Daly City Staff Planner Don Ciucci takes on the ponderous task of checking background brochures of 54 companies submitted to his office for the job of redevelopment agency consultant. A special Consultant Selection Committee also reviewed the reports and whittled the number of firms down to six primary consultants.

City to Consider Six For Consultant Post

The field for a consultant firm for the Daly City Redevelopment Agency has been narrowed from 54 to six firms, a blue ribbon panel of civic, business and government leaders reported.

In addition to the six "primary" firms asked to submit proposals on the proposed massive project in the Mission Street-Junipero Serra Boulevard area, the consultant selection committee recommended eight firms with expertise in specific areas.

Mayor Victor Kyriakis, a member of the committee, said the committee was "very close" in its decision on the top six firms.

"We were almost unanimous," Kyriakis said.

The deadline for receiving specific proposals from the six firms is May 2 at 5 p.m., it was explained.

It also is possible that some firms may desire to undertake the project as a joint venture, Staff Planner Don Ciucci said.

The six firms include:

Anshen & Allen; John S. Bolles Associates; D'Amico & Associates Inc.; DeLeuw, Cather & Company; KCA Engineers Rockrise, Odermatt Mountjoy, Amis Keyser Martson Associates / Environmental Science Associates; and Albert R. Seyranian.

'Meanest Thief' Hits Again

"Meanest Person" award goes to the burglar who ripped off the St. Vincent de Paul clothing store at 6726 Mission Street, Daly City, over the past weekend.

Asked what was taken, an investigator said: "A pitiful amount of cash."

The outlet sells second-hand clothing and other items and uses the money to help the poor.

Pacifican Arrested In Miami

U.S. Customs agents Wednesday arrested a 24-year-old Pacifica man who allegedly attempted to slip through inspectors at Miami's airport with nine fishing rods packed with $2.7 million worth of cocaine.

Robert David Stuckey presented two boxes along with his luggage to customs inspectors after stepping off a commercial flight from Columbia and Panama.

Officials said a customs inspector noticed the lower two portions of the four piece tubular fiberglass fishing rods appeared to be solid. Inspectors took a closer look at the fishing rods and discovered the lower two sections were packed with cocaine.

Each of the lower sections of the fishing rods contained about ¾ of a pound of cocaine, and agents said they recovered a total of 12.6 pounds of the narcotic from the rods.

Taylor Leaving Colma Council

Citing poor health, veteran Colma councilman and former Mayor Earl H. Taylor resigned Thursday from the city council effective immediately.

Taylor had been a councilman for some 16 years and was mayor of Colma last year.

He has been in ill health for some time, a city hall spokesman said.

Mayor Fred Garbini said today he would ask the council to nominate persons to fill the unexpired post within 30 days.

If the council cannot make a selection within 30 days on who will take Taylor's place, a special election must be held under state law.

City Manager Files Bankruptcy

South San Francisco City Manager Ed Alario has filed a voluntary petition in bankruptcy in connection with a now defunct business he operated prior to joining the city in September of 1972.

The petition, filed in San Francisco Federal Court March 28, lists debts of $173,156 and property holdings of $26,750.

One of Alario's creditors is Councilman Warren Steinkamp, who along with Daniel Kocsik, of 452 Yellowstone Drive (also Steinkamp's address), holds a second mortgage on Alario's house.

Alario said of the action, "I'm not ashamed. It's something I had to do." He added that Steinkamp's holding of a second mortgage on his house was simply a business transaction. "It is a secured loan," he said.

Alario said the business, started in 1970, was a credit bureau that provided a computer billing and collection service.

"I lost a bundle of dough. I learned an experience second to none," said Alario, who is concerned that some may now challenge his credibility and ability as administrative head of the city.

"I don't see the (city's) money," he said. "I only recommend. The council approves, and the finance department sends out the checks."

When Alario came to the city he was hired as finance officer. He became city manager in November of 1973.

"I can look myself in the mirror," said Alario. He said he was "putting things together" in preparation of informing the council of the action he took when "copies of the petition began showing up all over town."

"I just wanted to have it all together. I'm not coping out on any personal things," assured Alario. "There's no doubt; it's quite apparent somebody's out to get me. But in this business, there's no way not to have enemies."

"This (bankruptcy petition) is just something that dates back to a previous period. If I'm condemned for that, so be it. I really don't think it makes me any less qualified, or incapable of performing as a city manager," said Alario.

A majority of the council indicated it feels the same way.

Mayor Dick Battaglia said he knew of Alario's financial difficulties. "But I had no knowledge he filed bankruptcy," he said. "I think there's a certain faction in the city that doesn't particularly care for him. They are out to see blood," he added.

"He didn't do anything illegal or immoral. He didn't break any laws," Battaglia said. "He just had a bad business venture. I don't think that has that much bearing on his ability to run this city. He's been here three years and the city's been functioning well. It (bankruptcy) is just a legal procedure to go through."

Councilman Frank Mammini also had not known of the bankruptcy filing. "But if a man has a financial problem that's a personal thing. I can't see crucifying a guy for that. I'll crucify him if he doesn't do a job. He's tried to get himself out of the hole. That's to his credit," Mammini said.

Councilman Steinkamp, who brushes aside any talk of conflict of interest regarding his holding a second mortgage on Alario's property, said, "This (bankruptcy) has nothing to do with his running the city. It was just a business deal that turned bad. He's a very capable individual and this should have no reflection on his ability or his credibility."

On the matter of the second mortgage, Steinkamp said it was "strictly a business deal." According to Steinkamp, Alario was purchasing the house across the street after he became city manager and Steinkamp offered to "help by way of a second, and that's the way it worked. There's no way it's a conflict of interest. I simply have a lien."

Councilman Leo Padreddii along with the rest of the council was unaware of the bankruptcy petition.

DC Postpones Restaurant Bid

The Daly City Planning Commission April 8 postponed for another month action on a proposed restaurant near the corner of Hickey Boulevard and the Junipero Serra Freeway.

Residents of the Winston Manor neighborhood in South San Francisco are objecting to the restaurant on a bluff overlooking their area, even though assurances were given by realtor George Menzoian that the structure would be screened from view by trees and shrubs.

Menzoian promised to build a landscaped retaining wall on a 2-1 slope to replace the eroding dirt face of the hillside that engineers say poses a slide threat to homes below.

The present hillside is a 1-1 slope, it was explained.

Three members of the Winston Manor Homeowners Association protested building of the restaurant, pointing out a commercial office building would be preferable.

Richard Heath, of 134 Dundee Drive, South San Francisco, asked where the property line between his land and the proposed site was.

Menzoian said he would conduct a survey to determine this.

Although the commission accepted an Environmental Impact Report on the property, it decided to table the matter for another month.

In other action, a request by Atlantic Richfield Company to allow operation of a "pre-packaged" food store in conjunction with an established service station at the corner of Serramonte and Gellert Boulevards was rejected by the commission after opposition was voiced from three service station representatives.

Charles Lewkowitz, owner of a Chevron service station on Eastmoor Ave., told the commission he opposed operation of such a service by a company-owned station.

He said the oil companies could drive independent service station dealers out of business by cutting prices.

AIRMAN HONORED

Exemplary conduct and duty performance as a management engineering specialist has earned Airman First Class Romeo C. Aquino of Daly City, Outstanding Airman of the Month honors at Andrews AFB, Md.

Airman Aquino, son of Mateo Aquino of 565 Skyline Drive, Daly City, is a member of Detachment 1, 1111th Management Engineering Flight.

Police Laud Citizens' Actions

Citizens are becoming more involved these days, Daly City police happily report.

Three recent incidents point to this fact, according to Chief David Hansen.

Some three weeks ago a pair of burglary suspects tried to evade police in a Daly City housing tract.

Instead of providing the suspects shelter they sought by pounding on doors, residents of the area led police to the men's hiding place.

Last week, a would-be victim of an alleged burglar grabbed the man and held him in a bear hug until police arrived.

Gordan Kvamme, 32, a Daly City building contractor, apprehended Leland Belfils, 31, a Department of Corrections escapee, after Kvamme discovered Belfils in an upstairs room of the couple's home at 42 Muirwood Drive.

On Dec. 9 of last year two men — Ray Lencioni and Vincent Maguire, both of Colma — were driving along San Pedro Road near Washington Street, when they spotted a hit and run accident resulting in personal injury to the victim.

Both men sped after the alleged reckless driver and succeeded in apprehending and holding the man until police arrived.

A resolution presented to the men last week by the Daly City Council noted:

"In these times of social apathy towards the problem of others and the often prevailing attitude of not wanting to get involved, the actions of (these men) indicates that there are still some citizens within this country of such high caliber who have concern for the life and well-being of their fellow man and for the administration of justice."

Engineers' Pay Hiked

A memorandum of understanding granting 49 members of the San Mateo County Engineer's Office represented by the Western Council of Engineers a 9.4 per cent salary increase was approved April 8 by the Board of Supervisors.

As in other agreements with county employe organizations, the increase is retroactive to Jan. 1. Included in the agreement are increased county contributions to health and hospitalization insurance.

In addition, the county road superintendent and the assistant road superintendent received supplemental pay hikes of $83 and $73 a month respectively to maintain the differential between their positions and those of subordinates.

Silent Group Faces Trustees

A question-and-answer meeting between the South San Francisco Unified School District and parents, teachers and children at Los Cerritos Elementary School drew many persons, but few questions.

Kenneth Austin, president of the Board of Trustees, stood in front of the crowd in the school auditorium and practically begged for questions.

"How about the girls in the front row," he asked some students. "Do you have any questions"?

Silence.

"Do you know what they (the board) do?" Mary McHale, president of the PTA, prompted the girls.

"No," was the monosyllabic reply.

"Why don't you ask them?" she said.

Finally a small voice asked, "What do you do?"

The ice was broken.

"We assist in the operations of our school system," Austin said. "We're charged with the responsibility of seeing that your education is the best that we can provide.

"I think it's interesting to know that your trustees are a little different than your city government," he said. "A board of education member is an official of the state. Education is a function of our state government."

The questions picked up some momentum and the trustees, sitting on fold-away chairs, a basketball net hanging above their heads, eagerly answered.

The only discussion which bordered on the controversial was about the Proposition C revenue increase proposal.

The PTA unit's treasurer, Shirley Santos, asked if Proposition C would pay for staff salaries.

"It never was said it wouldn't go for salary raises," Thomas Henkle, vice president of the board, said. "As long as the cost of personnel takes up 80 per cent of our budget, a portion of these funds would have to be allocated to that area. This is a people business.

"Yes, there will be some increases granted," he said. "I wouldn't know to what extent. We're in the process of negotiating."

There was also talk about the advisability of returning the ninth graders to the senior high schools.

"If we put the ninth graders in the high schools, we would have an excess of 2,000 students, and neither high school could handle it," Henkle said. "There's just no justification for cleaning out junior high classrooms and having to add on to the existing high school classrooms."

John Dillon, the board's former president, asked the audience: "How do you people feel about education here at Los Cerritos on the whole?

The answer was an enthusiastic "terrific" and loud applause.

Ryan Lauds Housing Bill

Congressman Leo J. Ryan (Dem.-San Mateo) has expressed great satisfaction at the passage by the House of Representatives of the Emergency Middle Income Housing Act.

He praised the new chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee, Henry Reuss (Dem.-Wisc.) for his leadership in pushing through the bill which Ryan said "will do more to stimulate and to rekindle the American housing industry than any legislation since I have been in Congress."

Congressman Ryan stated that "No industry is more basic in this country than the construction of housing for American Citizens." He pointed out that the sharp decline in National Housing starts from 2,000,000 units in 1972 to a projected total of 800,000 units in 1975 has had a most profound economic consequence on our entire financial structure.

"Now is the time" Ryan said, "for the prospective middle income American homeowner to get help in obtaining the kind of housing which he needs."

City Caution on Temple

Buddhism is an ancient Asian religion teaching that by right living and right thinking one achieves Nirvana or perfect blessedness.

A group of Korean Buddhists hope to find Nirvana at the proposed Sambosa Buddhist Temple to be located on Gypsy Hill Road in Pacifica.

But the Pacifica Planning Commission expressed concern April 7 about the environmental and human impact of constructing a temple on the virtually undeveloped land.

Commissioner Brad Pringle feared that an influx of traffic on Sharp Park Road and Gypsy Hill Road leading to the temple could prove dangerous.

"I think this matter needs to be looked at more thoroughly," he said.

A Pacifica Department of Community Development report said the temple will create the need for some improvement of surrounding roads, but will not create any significant increase in traffic on Sharp Park Road.

Plans for the new temple include a shuttle bus that will pick up groups of people from outside of Pacifica, minimizing the traffic flow.

Jgongho Kim, who represented the Buddhists at the meeting, said the temple will accommodate about 70 people, but that he expects a membership of at least 200.

"Those 200 people could all show up at the same time if they so desire," said Commissioner Ellie McGuire.

"At our Carmel temple we have an average of 30 to 40 people show up at a time for services, and I think the same is going to happen here," Kim said. "I don't think it will be a problem."

"Mr. Chairman, I'm concerned about the 'I don't thinks' and the 'probably','' said McGuire.

Pringle also was concerned that more than the expected 30 or 40 people might crowd the temple.

SSF Reviews Sewage Plan

The South San Francisco City Council April 8 reviewed plans for improving the city's sewage treatment plant to comply with federal regulations.

The council favored the least expensive plan — $10,000.

"I think we can live with the least costly alternative," said City Manager Edward Alario.

"I'm happy to see staff recommends that," said Vic Mayor Leo Padreddii. "I know we need an increase, but I would have objected to any more than that."

The city's sewage treatment facility is $51,000 in the red, so only $50,000 of the $101,000 could be used for the federally required improvements.

The needed money will come from the taxpayers. If the $101,000 plan is adopted, the average service charge for a homeowner would increase from $27 to $34.

The councilmen generally agreed such an increase would be reasonable. It was reported that Redwood City residents pay $30; Millbrae, $36; Pacifica, $40. In Marin and Sonoma counties the average homeowner pays close to $100 a year.

According to the preferred plan, industrial and commercial firms would be charged in relation to type and volume of water flow. Restaurants, for example, discharge a graat amount of grease and detergent, which are difficult to treat.

A restaurant using 60,000 cubic feet of water annually now pays $168. The plan would raise the fee to $330.

For a large industrial firm, the increase would be more dramatic. A firm now paying $26,200 would pay $46,960.

William Hern, executive director of the Peninsula Manufacturers Association said the city's industrial and commercial firms hadn't received sufficient information on the proposed sewage treatment plans.

"We may well agree; we may not," Hern said. "We would like an opportunity to study this and perhaps meet with your (the city's) consultant before the city council takes action. I think it would have been appropriate to have an opportunity to discuss this matter somewhere along the line before it got this far.

"I would like to urge that matters of this consequence are worthy of discussion if you believe the industrial community is important to South San Francisco," he said.

Councilman Frank Mammini supported Hern's statement.

"I would hate to see our industrial community destroyed," Mammini said. "Too often we do things rapidly without really knowing what we're doing."

The council agreed to discuss the issue further with representatives of the industrial and commercial communities.

Demo Women Changing Their Roles

San Mateo County Democratic Women (SMCDW) have set about changing the "traditional" role of women in Democratic politics.

"For years the main function of women in party politics seemed to be confined to pouring coffee at receptions and cleaning toilets in candidate's headquarters," coordinator Barbara Simon remarked. "We don't mind doing those chores, but we want to do something more. We want to come out of the kitchen and bathroom."

Beginning last December, the range and thrust of County Democratic women took on a new posture with the appointment of three area-wide coordinators: Mrs. Simon for North County, Dorothy Fallon, mid-Peninsula, and Linda West representing the south.

The first project of the group was to provide office staff for the Democratic Headquarters in San Mateo.

"The Democratic Women are important to the headquarters operation," said Al Kochman, Central Committee chairman. "They are making the headquarters a pleasant place. The party work is more organized. They make the difference between the work being done right or on a bare-bones basis."

"Besides staffing the office, they get out the Central Committee mailings regularly and are updating our precinct files," he added.

In addition to the staff work, the women's group has embarked on an energetic public relations campaign to familiarize local Democrats with the aims and accomplishments of the Democratic party on a national, state and local level.

The first in a series of public luncheons took place in December, when Norma Corey, now Democratic State Senatorial District Co-Chairman, reported on the 1974 Kansas City Mid-Term Convention, which drew up the first Democratic charter. This is the first such charter not only in Democratic history, but in United States political party history.

In January the three coordinators were delegates to the California State Democratic Central Committee Convention in Sacramento, where they participated in caucuses to determine the role of women in the State Party. The result was passage of a resolution by the convention which calls for women's equal and full participation within the party structure including: training in political skills, equal opportunity for elected positions in the State Central Committee and successful election of women candidates for public office. The resolution further called for the restructuring and revitalizing of the role of women in the State Central Committee.

On March 8, the San Mateo organization hosted a conference for Women's Division delegates from Bay Area Counties, including Marin, Alameda, Santa Clara and San Francisco. The conference was a prelude to a Northern California Conference, which will take place on April 26, to draw up recommendations on women's status for presentation to the Executive Committee of the State Central Committee.

On-going activities include assisting speakers from the County Central Committee Speaker's Bureau by providing opportunities for small groups to hear the Democratic position on various issues.

The SMCDW has reprinted extracts from the Democratic Charter and the Democratic Economic Policy passed at the Kansas City Convention, as well as copies of resolutions passed at the State Convention. These reprints are available at the headquarters.

Activities for the month of April include lunch meetings with speakers from varied areas of the local Democratic scene. On April 3, San Francisco Attorney Fred Furth reported on the March session of the Democratic National Committee, of which he is a recently elected member. Furth recently was appointed the California Chairperson of the Affirmative Action Committee, which was created in accordance with the Mikulski Committee rules at the Mid-Term Convention.

On April 10, Madge Overhouse, Northern California Women's Division Chairperson met with local Democratic women at a brown-bag lunch.

A trip to Sacramento is scheduled for April 26. The day will include visits with State Senators Arlen Gregorio and George Moscone, Assemblyman Louis Papan, a session of the Legislature and lunch.

The three coordinators appear to be "typical" suburban housewives. Linda West, wife of attorney Glen West, is the mother of four children. In addition to politics, she enjoys horse back riding, boating and cooking. For years, she was known as the County's Democratic "loyal kitchen crew." Linda who is in charge of the SMCDW lunches, says, "Good food can add a lot to any political meeting. I enjoy providing the chance for people to meet in a happy atmosphere and talk politics."

Dorothy Fallon, who lives in a San Mateo apartment, is keenly interested in the issues facing the country today. She is a former teacher, who is mainly responsible for the "pleasant" atmosphere of the Democratic Headquarters. She keeps the bulletin board up to date with newspaper and magazine clippings of interest to the local Democratic community and researches issue positions.

Barbara Simon, wife of paper salesman Mort Simon, is the mother of three grown children. She was graduated from Skyline College in 1973 and finds her major interests in the field of practical politics and publicity.

All three women have participated in political campaigns in the county. Linda has been active in campaigns for Mark Sullivan, Alan Cranston and Leo Ryan. Dorothy took part in Jerry Waldie's bid for the governor's seat in last June's primary and worked for Senator Alan Cranston in the November election. Barbara was city chairman for the 1971 College election; coordinator for George Corey's second San Bruno City Council race; and campaign manager for Margaret Kozkowski in the 1974 San Bruno City Council election. She was San Mateo County press aid in Jerry Waldie's gubernatorial campaign and a member of George Moscone's steering committee in the last general election.

The SMCDW recently received a packet of organizational material from the Democratic National Committee in Washington, D.C. Among the subjects covered were papers on women candidates, including one entitled "Tips for a Candidate's Husband."

Commenting on the women's role in the mainstream of Democratic politics, Kochman said, "The Women's Division as it is today, is a necessity, at least to our Central Committee, but it is regressive. It puts women on a separate level. I would like to see them integrated into the mainstream. I would like to see one Democratic party."

OUT OF THE KITCHEN

Barbara Simon (left) and Linda West are among members of the San Mateo County Democratic Women who are changing the traditional role of women in their party's politics. Since December, Mrs. Simon has been area-wide coordinator in the North County, and Linda West has held a similar post for the South County.

Serramonte High Holds Annual Multi-Ethnic Day

The traditional "multi-ethnic day" was held at Serramonte High School April 16.

Each year members of various ethnic groups (Chinese, Spanish, Greek, German, Afro-American, Italian, French, Hebrew, Slavic, Ki Swahili, English, Tagalog, Japanese and Armenian), dig deep into their ancestral souvenirs, recipes, music and languages, and put them on display for others to see.

Many students have designed posters, molded pottery, and are preparing special dishes to offer to their fellow students as examples of their cultures.

In the past, "Multi-Ethnic Day" has been very helpful to the Serramonte student body by making them aware of other cultures and traditions.

A Day in the Life of Orphan Rachel

A DAY IN THE LIFE

A day in the life of tiny Vietnamese orphan Rachel "Doe," among the first contingent of waifs to be airlifted from Saigon to San Mateo County, started with confinement to a crib in the pediatrics ward of Mary's Help Hospital. The 2½ year old Rachel was a frightened and lonely child on arrival at the Daly City facility. Without hesitation, medical treatment began, with Rachel trying to help an X-ray technician do the job right. Tuckered out after a long trip and medical checkup, Rachel finally rests quietly in the arms of nurse Edna Healy. Thirty-six hours after her arrival in America, Rachel meets her new parents — Dickson and Judy Mead of Milpitas. The Meads have seven other children, ranging in age from two to 10 years. Five of the children are adopted.

Reading: 'A Tool For Personal Joy'

There is a story that pictures a grade school child that wished that all the books in the world would disappear. To teach her a lesson a fairy made it happen with days of chaos resulting in all parts of the world.

National Library Week, April 12-19, is a good time to remind ourselves of the importance of reading in our lives. The ability to read separates civilized man from savages. It is, as Charles Coffin Jewett observed, the surest means for the diffusion of knowledge and as Helen Haines wrote, "the fulfillment of education."

Reading, wrote professor Haines, is a means "for spiritual and intellectual as well as for material and vocational profit." Continuing she said "books are for mental resource," and reading is a tool for "individual and personal joy." With such words Ms. Haines echoes John Milton, who found reading to be "the precious life blood of a master spirit."

Reading magnifies the reader. Thus "every man who knows how to read," as Aldous Huxley wrote, "has it in his power to magnify himself, to multiply the ways in which he exists, to make his life full, significant and interesting." Reading provides men with tools for action, and with mirth, or with sobering thoughts, or with glimpses of beauty, power and pleasure. Thus each reader can, like Markham said of Lincoln "feed his spirit with the bread of books and slake his thirst at all the wells of thought."

Why then, are there so many non readers? Is it because Americans have adopted towards knowledge in general what Herbert Kohl called a "nonelitist, noncompetitive attitude?" Such a philosophy holds that there is something demeaning about the person who appears to be educated, thus the well-read individual is regarded as one who has lost his "red-blooded American virility." Such an attitude, Kohn found to be "a lot of stamina training."

Or is it because we have adopted television and movies as a substitute for reading. If so Mannix, Popeye, John Wayne, Robert Redford and Cher Bono have replaced Shakespeare. Instead of the Bible that taught Lincoln the principles of beautiful speech and filled Jefferson with dreams of human equality, today's child will learn from the authors of "The Hollywood Squares" or the writers that produce "Kolchak: The Night Stalker."

Whatever the reasons for so many non readers, National Library Week should serve as a time to realize that "reading is something special" and the "libraries have it."

Beth Israel Plans 'Shabbos Shmooz'

At Shabbat Services on Friday evening, Rabbi Joseph Asher will join Rabbi Morris for a "Shabbos Shmooz" at the temple on Brotherhood Way.

Rabbi Asher is a native of Germany. He received his secular and rabbinic education at the University of London, the Tree of Life College and Jews' College in London. During World War II, he served in the Australian Army. He began his civilian Rabbinic career as assistant Rabbi of Temple Beth Israel, Melbourne. In 1948, he came to the United States as a special student to the Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati.

Before coming to San Francisco in 1968 as senior rabbi of Congregation Emanu-El, he served Congregations in Florida, Alabama and North Carolina. Rabbi Asher is the author of several essays and articles, among them a feature article in Look Magazine dealing with Jewish relations with the new Germany.

The rabbis will hold a discussion after the services.

DC Grand Knights Plan Spelling Bee

Grand Knight Richard Rusting announced that Marian Council 3773, Knights of Columbus is sponsoring its Sixth Annual Spelling Bee.

Five parochial grammar schools in the area recently held spell offs in their respective schools and each will send three representatives to the finals.

The finals, which will be open to the public, will be held at Holy Angels Parish Hall, 107 San Pedro Road, Colma, Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

A perpetual trophy will be awarded to the school amassing the highest team scores in the finals.

The three top spellers will receive the following awards: first place, $50 U.S. savings bond; second place, $25 U.S. savings bond, and third place, $25 U.S. savings bond.

In addition, each student reaching the finals will receive a pen and pencil set.

Last year over 200 persons attended the Spelling Bee to watch Holy Angels School win the Perpetual Trophy for the second consecutive year.

TV Show Set for Doctors

A Daly City Foundation created after the death of a 19-year-old pre-med student will present a half-hour TV program at 6:30 p.m. Friday, April 18 on KQED, Channel 9, called "Advice for Aspiring Doctors."

The foundation was established as a living memorial to Cindy Smallwood, the daughter of Mrs. Catherine Smallwood, after Cindy was fatally injured in a Berkeley automobile accident.

Mrs. Smallwood now is president of the Cindy Smallwood Medical Scholarship Foundation, whose major purpose is to finance disenfranchised students through four years of medical school, with first preference going to third-world females, she said.

Dr. Betty Jo Smith

Dr. Janice McIntosh

An interview session on the program will find Cindy's sister, Gayle Anthony, hostess, with Dr. Betty Jo Smith, a Charles Drew Health Center Board certified surgeon and intern Janice McIntosh of Children's Hospital, Oakland, discussing obstacles that can occur in pursuing a medical career.

Format of the program, the first to be aired by the foundation, will begin with a discussion of how to make it to and through medical school by high school students and a "tough" but realistic resident doctor," Mrs. Smallwood said.

"We plan to do other things like this," she explained. "We plan to give out information, motivate students to seek foundation funds." The center is also seeking funds. Interested persons can write the foundation at P.O. Box 243, Daly City, Ca. 94016, she said.

Grant Made By Pacifica

A grant of $1,000 has been made to Friends to Teenage Parents by the City of Pacifica, from the social service budget.

FTP operates in northern San Mateo County, working with young parents, about 20 per cent of whom are in Pacifica, according to an agency spokesman. Many of the FTP workers are Pacificans.

Mrs. Daniels reports that the next orientation for prospective volunteers will be Wednesday evening, April 16, at St. Paul's Methodist Church, South San Francisco, home of the organization. Volunteers are needed both in the office and in finding used items, as well as in work with teenagers, she said.

NELL NORTON

Good morning, good cooks.

Imagine something tasting half way between cornbread and a cheese souffle and you'll get the idea of how delicious this oven dish is going to taste. It comes out with a pretty golden puffed crown which sinks fast as souffles are wont to do. For a main course accompany it with corned beef or ham, a hot green vegetable and cole slaw.

CORNMEAL CHEESE PUFF

- 1¼ cups milk
- ½ cup cornmeal
- ¾ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon marjoram
- ¼ teaspoon sage
- ¼ teaspoon baking powder
- 2 eggs, separated
- ¾ cup grated monterey jack cheese
- Butter
- Grated parmesan cheese

Heat ¾ cup milk in saucepan until scalded. Mix the ½ cup cornmeal, ¾ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon marjoram, ¼ teaspoon sage and remaining ½ cup milk. Stir into hot milk and cook, stirring, until mixture comes to boil. Let it bubble tently one minute, stirring all the while. Mix in the two egg yolks. Mix in the ¼ teaspoon baking powder, ¾ cup jack cheese and two tablespoons butter, stirring until butter is melted.

A quick and easy dessert to go with this meal, or any meal, is this apple cake.

HURRY-UP APPLE CAKE

- 2 cooking apples, medium size
- 4 tablespoons sugar
- ¼ teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 tablespoons butter

Line a buttered eight-inch round pan with the two unpeeled apples, thinly sliced. Sprinkle with four tablespoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon and dot with the two tablespoons butter.

BATTER

- 1 cup flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ½ cup sugar
- 3 tablespoons butter
- ½ cup milk
- 1 egg

Sift the one cup flour, one teaspoon powder pwder and ½ cup sugar in a small mixing bowl. Drop in the three tablespoons butter. Mix at low speed for one minute. Add the egg to the ½ cup milk and pour into flour mixture. Beat at medium speed for two minutes. Pour over apples.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes, or until cake tests done.

Serve warm with whipped cream.

Whip the two egg whites until stiff. Fold into the cornmeal mixture. Turn into buttered one-quart baking dish. Bake in 375 degree oven 30 to 35 minutes, or until puffed and golden brown.

Serve promptly (before it falls) with butter and grated parmesan cheese on top.

Makes four servings.

Women's Liberation: Some Men Threatened

The Women's Liberation Movement doesn't threaten men who think it is saying that a woman is as good as a man; it only threatens those who think it is saying that a man is no better than a woman.

This philosophy, voiced by feminist author Elizabeth Janeway, is a pearl of wisdom and the basis of much male apprehension about equality, according to Gene Marine, a man with more than passing interest in the movement.

He is the author of the book, "A Male Guide to Women's Liberation," which was published in 1972. Marine and his wife, feminist Judith Van Allen, will be featured speakers during Canada College's Women's Week activities next week. The pair will lecture on Wednesday, at 8 p.m. in the Main Theater of the Redwood City campus. Tickets are available through the Community Services Office.

Marine's book is a well-researched and highly readable work intended to allay the fears of American men whom he sees as "both oppressors and victims."

"I felt that most of the men I knew, while not directly opposed to the Women's Movement, had a lot of wrong stereotypes about it, so I decided that I would tell them about it in male language," he explained.

His basic premise is that both men and women in our society are conditioned to see the male role as the normal one, and therefore, the femal role is subnormal or inferior. "Masculinism," he said, is so much a part of the American learning process that it appears to be not only true, but obvious.

"We (men) have to understand what is done to us in order to understand what we do to them (women). Then we can fight back together," he said.

In his book he analyzes the "masculinism" of our society as perpetuated by family, in children's books, in school and throughout the media and popular culture. Then he encourages his male readers to develop a feminist consciousness.

"If you have a feminist consciousness, then you can see the things you have been looking at all this time without really seeing them," he said. "You notice that Bill always drives the sled and Joan always rides behind. You hear yourself calling the "girls" at the office "sweetie" and you wince, and pretty soon you stop doing it."

Marine also analyzes the issues currently concerning women such as job equality, marriage, role conditioning, and sexuality.

Understanding what women want is a definite advantage to the male, Marine believes. "The principal benefit is freedom role-playing, freedom from the necessity of having to be 'male' all the time. It leads to interesting relationships."

Male readers have given the book mixed reviews, he said. "The principal thing about men who read it is that they tend to read it superficially. They say, 'I guess we really do put them down,' but they don't want to go into the deeper implications."

The book probably has more female than male readers, Marine indicated. "Often women who read it give a copy to a man and say, 'See, that's the way it is.'"

He smiled, adding, "I'm not sure that's such a good idea."

He commended women involved in the movement for their intelligent and far-sighted attempts to further women's rights. "Women's Liberation has gone much more deeply into the question than anyone has before, with the exception of a few women writers," he said.

He first became involved in the movement early in 1963 when, as a reporter for Ramparts Magazine, he covered a week-long symposium at the U.C. Med Center titled "Potential of Women." Judith Van Allen, whom he met the previous year, was one of the participants.

His consciousness about the movement dates from that conference, he said, and it has continued to grow since that time.

Several years later he married Ms. Van Allen who is today an active feminist, political scientist, lecturer, and author of several scholarly works on the lives of African women.

Papan Raps Public Apathy

A concern about public apathy was expressed by Assemblyman Lou Papan, Democrat, 27th District, to a group of some 45 students and parents participating in a recent "Day in Sacramento" sponsored by 17th District, California PTA.

Papan claimed that only 45 per cent of the registered voters had cast ballots in the November election. "This means a minority of the public is dictating to a majority," he said.

Papan in part blamed the media for discouraging voter participation. A general impression — "voting will not change things" — has been fostered by the media who may also, according to Papan, be responsible for a "wrong impression about those elected to public office."

When asked about his reaction the the many problems affecting school districts in his area, Papan replied, "Education should be busy providing meaningful programs to meet individual needs; then the legislature can find money to support it."

According to Senator Arlen Gregorio, Democrat, 12th District, an uneasiness among the taxpayers about the money that goes for education is a contributing factor in voter denial of local tax increases. "Schools have become too separate and apart from the community," he said. "Education will either have to get the support of the community or do the job with the funds it now has."

To a question asking how such support could be enlisted, Gregorio replied that there must be a reaching out from the schools into the community, perhaps through more community experience programs for young people, which will, in effect, bring the community back into the educational process as well as more use of school facilities by adults.

Gregorio said, in expressing his interest in seeing the educational system revamped, "Our current education model is a 19th century one, harvest oriented. We do not offer nearly enough educational alternatives, especially at the high school level. We need to look hard at a number of things — tenure and the teacher seniority system among them."

Gregorio reiterated his concern that in recent years the legislature has assumed more and more responsibility for running the schools. He wants to see local control returned to local boards of education and will work to initiate and support legislation which will do just that.

"A $574 million surplus facing the governor may make him face up to education's needs," said Assemblyman Dixon Arnett, Republican, 26th District.

Arnett charged that the governor, after some three months in office plus campaign and governor-elect time, still hasn't made clear where his priorities lie. "None of us expected the governor to be a fiscal conservative," Arnett said. "He (the governor) has surprised his own Democratic supporters. Some of them may not be willing to carry his empty baggage for too long. He may find them voting with legislators they opposed in previous sessions."

When asked about collective bargaining, Arnett repeated his often quoted opinion that some form of collective bargaining "will be law" by July 1, 1975. Chided by a member of the group, who reminded Arnett that he had been wrong on his SB 90 "failure" prediction of a few years ago, Arnett laughed and admitted that he might be "wrong" again.

As Assembly carrier of Gregorio's permissive smoking legislation, Arnett explained how hard a fight he expected to have to get the bill passed by the Assembly. "I see it as a blow for local control," he said. "The issue is not smoking, per se, but rather a reaffirmation of the right of a local community through its elected school board to designate or not to designate an area for student smoking on a high school campus."

Social Gatherings for CHS Members

An informal social gathering of the Crystal Springs Chapter of Children's Home Society members and their husbands was held April 12 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Janney in Burlingame.

Mrs. John Brucato of Millbrae, Mrs. Richard Cullen of Burlingame, and Mrs. James Elam of Los Altos were in charge of all arrangements for food and beverages for the affair.

The evening began with no-host cocktails, proceeded to a buffet dinner, and culminated with all members, old and new, becoming better acquainted with one another, which will, in turn, benefit their joint efforts on behalf of CHS.

Chapter president Mrs. Fralley Lane of Burlingame introduced three new provisional members to the group.

The new provisionals are: Mrs. James Elam, Los Altos; Mrs. Ronald Johnson, San Mateo, and Mrs. Edward Simonson, Burlingame, who is a former president of the Elmhurst Auxiliary of Illinois Child Home and Aid Society, a member of the Peninsula Hospital Auxiliary.

Suicide Prevention Center Names Officers

The Suicide Prevention Center of San Mateo County announced a newly elected slate of officers for 1975-76 at its annual dinner meeting April 10 at the Burlingame Sheraton Hotel.

Mrs. Diane Nelson, Hillsborough, was installed as president of the organization by Howard N. Rosenthal, M.D., chairman and outgoing president.

Officers serving with Mrs. Nelson are Daniel J. Kline, Ph.D., San Carlos, first vice president; James E. Forrest, San Mateo, second vice president; the Honorable Gerald E. Ragan, Woodside, third vice president; Robert Nebrig, Menlo Park, secretary, and Tom Blake, San Mateo, treasurer.

Introduced were new members of the agency's board of trustees: Philip Caulfield, M.D., Burlingame; Mrs. John Dabney, San Bruno, director of Medical Social Service, Peninsula Hospital; Larry Doyle, Hillsborough, KGO newscaster; Mathew Hall Jr., Foster City, chief of Emergency Services, Department of Health, Education and Welfare; Mrs. Frank Jones, San Mateo; John J. Norton, Foster City chief of police; Michael E. Novak, San Mateo, vice president, Ross Systems; Stephen H. Olson, Foster City, president, Olson Sales, Inc., and Mrs. Charles Schwalm, Burlingame.

Continuing as trustees are John Blum, San Mateo; Arthur H. Bredenbeck and Mrs. Lois Register, Atherton; John Dabney, San Bruno; Bernard V. Elissagaray and the Honorable Edward W. Piska, Belmont; Avery L. Eppler and the Rev. John Koeker, Woodside; Louis States and Victor Freeman, M.D., Burlingame; Mrs. Edward Gerdts, Sunnyvale; the Honorable Howard W. Hartley, San Carlos; the Rev. Walter Johnson, Millbrae; Mrs. Robert Koshland and William E. Lofthouse, M.D., Hillsborough; Mrs. Stanford B. Rossiter, Menlo Park, and Phraesel L. Shelton, Foster City.

Featured during the evening was a discussion between syndicated advice columnist Abigail Van Buren and British psychiatrist and BBC lecturer Richard Fox on the topic, "The Media — Creativity or Chaos in Crisis Intervention."

Awards were made to six Suicide Prevention volunteers who had logged over 1,000 hours of staff time on the crisis phone service, and to 12 volunteers who have put in over 500 hours. Special recognition was given to Mrs. Harvey Jerome of San Mateo who has completed over 2,000 hours of volunteer service to the agency.

The Suicide Prevention Center, a non-profit mental health organization, maintains a 24-hour phone service, a drop-in room, and outreach programs, all staffed by trained volunteers to meet the varied needs of people in distress throughout San Mateo County. The agency can be reached by calling 349-HOPE.

QUILT RAFFLE

Mothers of children attending Lake Merced Nursery School admire selections of quilts, which will be raffled during a wine tasting party to be held at the school, 89 Belle Ave., San Francisco, April 26, beginning at 8 p.m. For information regarding tickets for the raffle call the school at 755-5047. The school is a non-profit organization, and to operate depends on funds raised from various activities. Pictured are (from left) Mrs. Phyllis Arthur, Mrs. Marilyn Polacci, Mrs. Judy Prescott and Mrs. Linda Petri.

Board to Assist Aging

A resolution designating the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors as the Area Agency on Aging for the County was approved last week by the board.

The County Commission on Aging will act as an advisory council to the agency in providing comprehensive and coordinated services for elder persons.

The county will receive an allocation of $194,251 from the state for administrative costs and to provide services to the elderly.

Paul Cowgill, chairman of the County Commission on Aging, informed the board the commission plans to spend a maximum of $65,000 on administration and planning, with the balance to be used to put programs in effect.

Supervisor Edward J. Bacciocco Jr. questioned the designation of the board as the agency, contending that the commission on aging has "earned its spurs and has the right to administer its own program."

He asserted that the commission will have no planning power.

Walter Callahan, administrative assistant in the county manager's office, countered that the responsibility of the commission will be "very significant" under the new program.

Supervisor John M. Ward concurred, stating it "strengthens and clarifies the role of the commission."

"I don't see any erosion," he added.

Under the new program, the agency will annually develop and submit to the state an area plan which describes how it proposes to provide a comprehensive and coordinated system for delivering social services to the elderly.

In addition, the agency is required to:

- Provide leadership and advocacy on behalf of older persons.
- Determine the social service needs of the elderly, with special attention to the needs of low-income and minority elderly.
- Inventory resources available to meet the needs of the elderly and evaluate the effectiveness of existing services provided by public and private agencies.

The nearby Fish Depot (also flies the Licata flag) provides the fresh fish for take-home buyers. . . . "Sweet Gypsy Rose" is one of the songs offered by Russell Reed, one of the headliners in Finocchio's hit revue. The rotund Russell brings down the house with his mock striptease. . . . # Child Care Tax Loses Out

The future of child care centers at the three schools in the San Mateo Community College District was dealt a serious body blow Wednesday evening by the district's board of trustees.

The board pledged that it would not use any new taxes to fund such centers in the district. A one-cent permissive tax had been considered but the trustees rejected that idea unanimously.

"The tax is not in the public interest," claimed trustee Eleanore Nettle. "This community cannot support such a tax for support services at this time." She added that other neighboring public school districts were suffering through grim financial times and that it was incumbent on the college board to keep the tax burden as low as possible.

The other three trustees present agreed. Francis Pearson did not attend the gathering at the College of San Mateo.

In addition to coming out against the one-cent tax increase, the board also refused to vote on a declaration of intent to set up child care centers which had been offered by the district's chancellor, Glenn Smith.

According to new board president James Tormey, "You have the consensus of the board."

The trustees were presented with a set of options available to the district for child care by director of planning Dr. Clifford Denney. It was the contention of the administration that use of one-cent tax was virtually mandatory to make child care a going concern on the three campuses.

Ms. Jacqueline Massing, president of the CSM student body and a prime mover behind the push to acquire child care centers in the district, told the trustees that, as they continued to waver on this issue, they were losing credibility.

Ms. Massing has been pushing for child care centers, along with a host of other San Mateo County individuals, for more than six months. Once again Wednesday, a number of child care adherents attended the board meeting, some of them with children in tow.

After it was plain that the board was adamant about the opinion on the tax, Ms. Massing left the meeting room in tears. Outside, she said the issue was far from dead. "I have just begun to fight for this," she offered.

The only slight glimmer of hope provided by the board was that it did order the administration to study child care further and to emerge in the near future with alternative ways to fund the project.

The child care enthusiasts were not the only persons who tore into the board Wednesday.

Students representing the CSM College Readiness Program, an established program geared to helping minority students, urged the board to reconsider the firing of a CRP counselor. The students were on the evening's agenda and the administration was aware that they were going to speak.

However, Tormey early on told the students that he didn't want them to talk about the counselor because it was properly a personnel matter.

The students disagreed, stating that they were on the agenda had a right to make at least their feelings known and would do so.

An argument developed. Tormey at one point bellowed at one student, "You can't hear anything with your mouth open." Four-letter words and a torrent of verbal abuse cascaded on the board from the audience.

Tormey then ordered a recess. As he and some other board members attempted to ignore the students in front of them, the youngsters continued to speak. Finally, after several minutes of a quasi-recess, Smith intervened and said he would have a student representative meet with him as soon as possible to hear the CRP complaint.

That wasn't the end of it. At about 12:30 a.m., as the meeting was concluding, one final CHP spokesman approached the board.

He pointed a finger at the board and escalated the verbiage with some new vulgarity, including a popular 12-letter gem.

"You are only hurting your own cause," advised Tormey. Another obscenity greeted that remark. Tormey finally adjourned the meeting on that negative note. It was his first as board chiarman.

In other less passionate matters, the trustees:

• Considered again the district's sabbatical leave policy.

Children's TV Fair Planned

Mrs. Vernon Finacom of Millbrae, 17th District PTA director of communication, and Mrs. Lon Price of San Mateo, 17th District PTA mass media chairwoman, will serve as hostesses for the First International Children's TV Fair to be held at the UC Extension Campus, Laguna and Market streets, San Francisco, April 20.

Mrs. Gordon Nelson of San Bruno, north coast regional commissioner of the California State PTA, will moderate one of the fair's discussion groups.

The all-day event, sponsored by 20 groups interested in children's television programming, including the California State PTA, is designed to help everyone learn how to use television more effectively together in home and school.

Activities will include demonstration areas set up and staffed by representatives from local commercial and cable television stations; continuous professional entertainment from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.; five separate workshop sessions dealing with more than 28 topics ranging from a discussion of "How Children Learn From TV" to "Through Children's Eyes," a discussion group for kids only; and information booths manned by volunteers from many of the sponsoring groups as well as from the Exploratorium, the Creative Environment Center and the San Francisco Public Library.

Babysitting and child care will be provided so that parents may participate fully in workshop and dialogue groups. The day will be seen "live" on Bay Area television from 3 to 5 p.m. and will be taped for later examination and evaluation by community groups.

There will be no admission charge; participants may come for the entire day or only for a portion of it. College credit through UC Extension is available upon application.

For further information call Mrs. Nelson at 589-3124, Mrs. Finacom at 697-2621 or Mrs. Price at 342-6118.

County Transit District to Mull Fund Requests

Does your city rate a "gold star" in the transit system department?

San Mateo County Transit District Director C. Robert Payne used the "gold star" phrase in describing cities which have additional circumstances that should be considered when evaluating requests for transit funds.

Tomorrow at 2 p.m. the district will conduct reviews of city requests for Transit Development Act (TDA) funds at its offices at 603 Hamilton Street, Redwood City.

One of the first persons to ask for a "gold star" rating was Kevin Roberts, transportation engineer from Pacifica.

Roberts explained his city recently had ordered eight additional buses (they now have two vans) equipped with special equipment to aid the handicapped and senior citizens.

If this approach to funding is adopted by the district it will mean that some cities will not necessarily be funded in accordance with past policy, which was based solely on population.

It would mean that other considerations would be included in allocating monies.

Director Jack Bland, a member of the district's finance and budget committee along with Payne and Director Aubrey Lumley, said guidelines for Transit Development Act funding fell into three categories: transit board responsibilities, fiscal responsibility and service standards.

"Guidelines can assist us in an equitable review of each community's need. The cities must continue to play a central role in their own operations and determinations, and we must strongly encourage them (to do so)," Bland said.

He said the district immediately should make a strong commitment to fiscal responsibility "and act as if our resources are extremely limited."

"Communities and the unincorporated areas not now having systems have an implied vested interested in TDA funds which must be protected," Bland said.

District Director and San Mateo County Supervisor William Royer recommended the district adopt a transit plan right away in order to qualify for application of Urban Mass Transportation Administration funds.

Royer explained the plan could later be revised, meantime, it would qualify the district as an "operator" for funding purposes.

County Engineer Sid Cantwell said UMTA is not looking for a complete transit plan, rather a mere "hearing application" probably would be acceptable for funding.

Formulation of a transit plan for the county is still months away, Payne noted.

Establishment of a 15-member citizens advisory board, which could have the effect of the "tail wagging the dog," according to Lumley, was shelved for further study.

The grass roots group included representatives of schools, environmentalists, taxpayers, business, labor, minorities, senior citizens, the city and handicapped persons.

Summer Jobs in Pacifica

The Pacifica Recreation Department has many job openings for summer and is taking applications, it was announced this week.

Two pre-school teachers are needed to teach 30 hours per week at $3.42 per hour. Classes run eight weeks, from the week of June 23 to the week of Aug. 15.

A cooking teacher also is needed for Pre-School and Children's Cooking. The pay is $3.42 per hour for 10 hours per week.

Two new classes needing a teacher are Pre-School and Children's Creative Dramatics.

A tap and ballet teacher also is needed for Pre-School and Children's Tap and Ballet. Approximately six teachers are needed. Salary for the latter two positions may vary.

The Recreation Department also is seeking a yoga instructor.

For further information and applications call 355-4151 ext. 33 or come to City Hall at 170 Santa Maria Ave.

Deadline for applications is April 25.

Illegal Aliens Bill Due

Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, has introduced legislation to amend the Immigration and Nationality Act to penalize employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens.

Ryan said there are an estimated two to three million jobs being held in this country by illegal aliens, with more coming across the Canadian and Mexican borders every day. "Over half are making $4.50 to $6.50 an hour," he said, adding that removal of these aliens from the labor market "a million or more jobs" for unemployed Americans.

Ryan's bill would establish local boards to preclude alien employment except during labor shortages and other specialized purposes. Since most are in agricultural work, Ryan said the board would include equal numbers of growers and farm workers and a U.S. Department of Agriculture representative.

The bill would impose a fine of up to $500 a day on employers for each day of an alien's employment or for referrals to other employers. The idea is that employers wouldn't be able to afford to hire illegal aliens, Ryan said.

The number of U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service personnel would be increased by 2,500 in Ryan's bill, which also would require disclosure of illegal aliens receiving assistance under the Social Security Act.

Le Paeini
Boxing History

In researching our recent column on the early history of the heavyweight boxing division, we were compelled to do some re-reading of old tomes to refresh our memory, and to review some ancient films, such as Jack Johnson-Tommy Burns, Johnson-Jeffries, Johnson-Willard, Dempsey-Willard, Dempsey-Tunney, and yes, even the almost forgotten Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight, and the exhibition Corbett fought with one Tom Courtney for the benefit of Tom Edison's experimental kinetograph.

We also reviewed some of the more modern fighters, and came to the conclusion that few of the 19th, early 20th century pugilists — even the legendary ones — could have stood up to the likes of Louis, Marciano, Charles, Ali, or probably even Baer, Liston, or Frazier. Perhaps even some of the unranked boys of today could have beaten the likes of the five-foot-seven heavyweight champ, Tommy Burns.

Gentleman Jim Corbett, for example, far outclassed the heavyweights of his day, but only because he was the first to treat boxing as a "science," as a sport in which the object was NOT to get hit. He perfected and made popular the use of the jab, invented the left hook, and introduced footwork as a valuable asset in the ring. He proved that quickness and deftness could overcome brute strength and power. But he looked so much better than everyone else, because he was the ONLY heavyweight fighting in that manner and because his opposition was, literally and figuratively, made up of stiffs like John L. Sullivan; street fighters who charged across the ring like wild bulls, looping punches from all directions with little thought of where they were going.

The legendary Ruby Bob Fitzsimmons, for another example, was a paralyzing puncher, but old films show why. He would stand and anchor himself in the center of the ring, and throw punches with all his might when his opponent came into his territory. There was no skill involved at all. It was relatively easy to cleverly slip punches with small movements of the head or to dodge cleverly out of range, when guys like Sullivan and Fitzsimmons telegraphed their punches, literally, five seconds before they threw them.

AND, OF COURSE, Corbett was also one of the few early day boxers who kept himself in top physical condition. Sure, John L. engaged in 75 round fights, but those were in the days before the Marquis of Queensberry rules, when wrestling and grappling was permitted, and a round ended when one of the fighters hit the turf. Considering all of that, and that such fights were often fought during or after rains in fields turned muddy, and it's much easier to understand how such "marathons" could be fought. Many rounds lasted only seconds, and because fights were fought to the finish in those days and fighters rarely kept themselves in genuinely good condition, most of the "knockdowns" in the latter stages of such fights were as the result of exhaustion rather than effective punches. Thus, Corbett, who came along just as that era ended and as the era of the three-minute rounds was arriving, fought mostly old grapplers whom he would simply exhaust with his speed and cleverness. Many of them today would have trouble making it to main event status.

We don't think that Corbett, fighting the way he fought them, could have out-boxed Gene Tunney or Billy Conn or Muhammad Ali, or possibly even Ezzard Charles, and Jack Dempsey, Rocky Marciano, and probably even Joe Frazier, would have eventually swept him off his feet.

Jack Johnson, with whom Ali has often been compared, was supposedly quick as a flash, the greatest defensive heavyweight boxer of all time. Well, five-foot-seven, 175-pound Tommy Hart had the hell beat out of him when he lost his title to Johnson, but he lasted 14 against the six-foot, 195-pounder, and was still fighting when police stopped the bout.

Johnson had one helluva time putting old, slow (even in his prime), rusty and washed up Jim Jeffries out in 15 rounds when Jeffries tried to regain his title after a six-year retirement, and in that famous Havana fight with big, clumsy Jesse Willard — the one Johnson later claimed he threw — Johnson was hit with a sucker right hand from a tiring Willard, and legitimately went down and was genuinely knocked out. Prelim boys today would have slipped that punch instinctively.

Now, if you read our column about the good old days of the heavyweight division, you're probably thinking that we're contradicting ourselves, because you may remember our declaration that the boxing game drew the best athletes in those days. We are not backing down from that statement. What we are saying is that today's boxers are much better physically conditioned and schooled. Simply, they know more than the old, old timers, and have been taught better how to use that knowledge.

IF TECHNIQUES have changed in boxing, they've gone through greater changes much more rapidly in pro basketball. The top shooting teams during the NBA's first season of 1946-47 were Washington and Chicago, which shot 29.7 from the floor. The champion Philadelphia Warriors shot 28.0, good for only fifth place behind Cleveland, 29.4, and Providence, 29.2.

Best free shooting team was Washington, with a 70.6.

Top scoring team was Chicago, which averaged 77 points a game, followed by Washington, at 73.8. The Warriors were the fifth highest scoring team, 68.6, behind Providence's 72.5 and Cleveland's 70.9.

The best scoring individual was Philadelphia's Joe Fulks, who had a very respectable average of 23.1 per game, but he shot only 30.5 from the floor. Nearest to him was Bob Ferrick, who had the best field goal average in the league with a 40.1, but averaged only 16.3 per game.

Free throw shooting was a little closer to today's standards, but still far off. Best in that category was Washington's Fred Scolari, with an 81.1. Ferrick, incidentally, was a real sharpshooter in his day, being fourth in free throw shooting with a 76.2.

A footnote to that '46-'47 NBA season, in honor of the opening of baseball season: Frankie Baumholtz, who started playing center field for Cincinnati in '47 (when basketball season didn't overlap with baseball) and eventually put in 10 years in the majors, was among the top 20 scorers in the NBA that historic year, averaging 14 a game with the Cleveland club.

SUDDEN BASEBALL THOUGHT: Up until last season, the Giants had had the best cumulative won-loss record in baseball since the move west. It didn't produce many pennants, but it was nice to note in press books and official programs. The Raiders, even now, have the best cumulative record in pro football since the coming of Al Davis. How often, though, has it gotten them to the Super Bowl?

But after last season's disaster, the Giants now stand, cumulatively, only third or fourth in the NL. Maybe that's a good omen. In pro sports, big payoffs come only in single seasons. What was done a year or two or five years ago means nothing.

LOCAL NOTE: Rich Morales, the Westmoor-Terra Nova boy who made good in the big leagues for eight years with the White Sox and Padres, is retiring after 12 years as a pro. His current plans are to settle in Pacifica and work with kids in his spare time.

El Camino Hi Outslugs Jeff

It wasn't hard to figure who was expected to start for unbeaten Half Moon Bay in yesterday's North Peninsula League baseball game against second place El Camino.

Nate Burr worked 13 innings April 8, then warmed up three separate times Friday before entering in the last inning to save an 8-6 win over Oceana.

In other games Friday, Camino outslugged Jefferson 12-9 and Terra Nova beat Serramonte 4-0.

Half Moon Bay leads the league at 3-0-1; Terra Nova and El Camino are 3-1.

Gene Montgomery and Gary Ottonello each doubled ina pair of runs for El Camino in a seven-run fifth inning. Montgomery came to the mound in the sixth and had to survive a bases-loaded jam in the seventh.

HMB's Lance Rupert drove in Chris Goelz with the winning run against Oceana. HMB held an 8-2 lead at one point, but Oceana crept back and the ever-ready Burr made another appearance.

Terra Nova reliever Dennis Fuller got the last out in a bases-loaded seventh to preserve a one-hit game for Judd Fisher.

Brett Lowert singled in Terra Nova's first run, and Mark Ellison doubled in a pair in the fourth inning.

The "Dazzlers" will be competing with other twirling and marching Corps from various cities in Northern California. The Senior Corps members who will be entering the individual strut competition include: Kim Boch, Kathy Ryan, Vicki Mibach, Kim Whelan, Roxanne Whelan, Lisa Sullivan, and Karen Wilson. The Daly City Dazzlers are under the instruction of Ms. Carol Craven and Mrs. Mary Jane Raffo.

Serramonte Hi Second in Relays

Serramonte High made a shambles of the King City Relays Saturday, winning seven events, but still couldn't capture the team championship.

The Regents totaled 43 team points compared with Madera's 45. The rest of the teams were far behind.

Serramonte captured the 100, 220, 440, long jump, 330 low hurdles and both the 440 and mile relay.

Ron Kennedy was his usual pesky self copping both the 100, in a season best of 9.8, and the 440 in 50.1. He was also on the 440 relay team and was named the MVP of the varsity division.

Tony Hicks recorded a season best of 38.6 in the 330 lows in the qualifying. He won the final in 39.3.

Alvin Diles won the 220 final in 22.4, but blazed to a 22.0 in the heats. Gerald Batton captured the long jump with a good leap of 21-11¾. And the Regents posted times of 42.8 and an easy 3:29.0 in the relays.

Oceana's Bill LaForge won his specialty, the 880, in 1:57.3. His time was .3 off his season best.

Serramonte's third hurdler (behind Hicks and Kennedy), Tom Bobertz, was second in the 120 high finals, running a 14.5. Hicks would have also been in the finals, but fell in his heat.

South City's Dan John heaved the discus 154-9, good enough for third place. And Mark Murphy of Oceana was fourth in the mile, running 4:30.5.

SSF Snaps Scoreless String

Breaking out of a 16-inning scoreless slump with a vengeance, South San Francisco High's baseball team whipped Westmoor 11-3 Thursday.

The Warriors upped their North Peninsula League mark to 3-1-1. Their last game was a 13-inning scoreless tie with league leader Half Moon Bay.

By the rules, that tie went into the books. But it appears now that if the game has any bearing on the round robin championship, it will be replayed.

SSF put up three more goose eggs before the fourth inning — the the Warriors converted four hits, a walk, a hit batter and three stolen bases into four runs. Mark Nuti's three-run homer in the fifth put the game away for winning pitcher Jim Selvitella.

Bulldog Swimmers 7th

College of San Mateo's small but gutty swim team swam to 34 season and 16 life bests in the Golden Gate Conference Meet Friday and Saturday at Chabot College.

The Bulldogs, 10 strong, finished a creditable seventh teamwise in the roughest swim conference in California. Diablo Valley made a farce out of the scoring with 611 compared to second place West Valley's 267½.

Seven of the 10 Bulldogs qualified for the Nor-Cal Meet next Friday and Saturday at Shasta College. The highest placer for CSM was Jim Purcell, who was third in the 200 fly in 2:06.6.

CSM was also a good fourth in the 800 free relay and Brad Bini was seventh in the 200 fly in 2:06.6.

CSM, 6-7 in the GGC, has scored just three runs in the last 36 innings.

The Bulldogs loaded the bases with none out in the eighth, but failed to score. Laney got a popup and a double play off a fly ball.

CSM got runners to first and second in the ninth, but again couldn't push across a tally.

Pad Swimmers Top Talented SF

Serra High's swim team took a step toward the WCAL swim championship with a 97-74 pasting of talent-laden St. Francis Friday.

The Padres were pushed to some of their best times of the year. Freestyler Don Thornhill won both the 200 and 100 frees in good times. His 100 time of 49.7 was his season best.

Breaststroker Tim Mascheroni blazed to a local best of 1:04.5. Soph Evan Kirschner posted a good time in the 500 free, 4:57.5. Serra also clocked a 3:26.2 in the free relay.

But the best time was turned in by Sulgar of St. Francis who cooked his way to a 56.8 in the 100 backstroke Central Coast Section 50 free leader Tom Schram lowered his top time to 22.4.

Serra's top diver, Tom Hennessy, had one of his best days of the year against some good female competition. Hennessy is gunning for a slot in the CCS diving finals. Last year he fell off the board in qualifying and lost his shot.

Pad Racquets Rip the Irish

Serra High's tennis team, behind the singles play of Russ Levikow, bounced visiting Sacred Heart 6-1 Friday.

Levikow played his best tennis of the year in fourth singles, stopping his opponent 7-6, 6-1.

Steve Hoffman also looked good in first singles, winning 6-3, 6-0.

Serra upped its West Catholic Athletic League mark to 5-1 with the win. The Padres were to meet St. Ignatius Tuesday in San Mateo.

Pad Nine Edges SI In Ninth

A walked-in run and fine relief pitching by Brian Duffy gave Serra High's baseball team a 4-3 win over visiting Sacred Heart in 10 innings Friday.

In the bottom of the tenth Serra's Bob Figone walked. Larry Deihle reached base on an error, and Ken Siragusa and Duffy walked to force in the winning run.

Duffy struck out seven and allowed no hits in four innings of relief. Serra is now 2-3 in the West Catholic Athletic League, and in the thick of the fight for the playoffs. Bellarmine is far ahead of a bunched-up pack.

Serra's JVs remained unbeaten with a 12-2 win over Sacred Heart in San Francisco. Ken Meyersieck Grossman two, giving pitcher Harry Grossman two, giving Harry Mason a comfortable cushion. The JVs are 5-0 in the WCAL and 8-0 overall.

Knicks Take Daly City Hunch Tournament

The Knicks, behind the 18 point scoring of Marion Obannon, defeated the Wolfpack 40-34 last week to win the S.A.N.C.R.A. Three Man Hunch Tournament, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division.

It was a closely-contested game until Obannon hit three straight baskets which were the margin of victory. Gerald Temple also was a bright figure for the winners with 14 tallies. Frank Denucci and Marty Gale were the big gunners for the "Pack" with 18 and 10 points respectively.

In the consolation championship, the Wonders' Ron Bourdon with 19 points and Rich Olson with 14 points were too much for Apathy with 12 points.

Teams from San Mateo, Burlingame, Pacifica, South San Francisco and Daly City competed in this first-ever Three Man Hunch Tournament.

SPRING LUNCHEON

Members of the Hope Lutheran Ladies Guild (from left) Marge Milson, Erma Carlson, Tina Geier and Shirley Muller plan for the Guild's annual spring luncheon and bake sale to be held April 25. The theme this year will be "Springtime San Francisco." In keeping with the current nostalgia craze, part of the decorations will consist of replicas of San Francisco's famous Victorian houses. They will be presented in an original fashion, and will be available for purchase too. Doors will open at 11:30 a.m., with lunch to be served from noon to 1 p.m. Tickets will be on sale at the door at $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Boys', Girls' State Delegates From Mills High Are Active

Active participation in sports, the arts, and maintaining a high grade point average were the factors considered in the selection of Mills High representatives to Boys' and Girls' State for 1975.

Tom Collins, Burlingame, and Barbara Sarantitis, Millbrae, will go to Boys' and Girls' State (respectively) this summer for an all-expenses paid week discussing politics and government with other students from all over California.

Alice Rodli, Burlingame, and Ara Sarkisian, Burlingame, were chosen as alternates, and, like Barbara and Tom, are juniors at Mills High School, Millbrae.

All four of these students have been active in sports, extra curricular school activities and outside groups. All have a high grade point average. These elements, combined together in each candidate, decided their eligibility to Boys' and Girls' State Conferences.

At Mills, Tom was active on freshman and sophomore class cabinets, he is junior class president and a member of the California Scholarship Federation. Athletically, he is on the football, basketball and track teams, and plays on the varsity baseball team.

He is a member of the Letterman's Society.

During the 1973-74 school year, Tom had a substantial role in "The Pajama Game," Mills' spring musical hit. He maintains a 3.8 GPA.

Outside Mills, he is the athletic director and executive board member of a local teen club, member of the Explorer's Club on Law and a volunteer leader for summer recreation.

Tom's hobbies include hang-gliding, snow and water skiing, cliff diving and marlin fishing. Future plans are to become more involved in school affairs, possibly pursue a career in law and ultimately become involved in some form of politics.

Barbara is interested in varying areas, sports, school "politics," drama and people.

A member of CSF, the Redress Board, Junior Class Cabinet, and Student Activity Council, Barbara has not hesitated to "get her feet wet." In addition to these, Barb is also President of MV-6, Girls Athletic Organization, and has worked actively on the crews of several dramatic Mills productions. She is also a member of the band.

Outside interests include church youth group activity and Amigos Club projects.

Hobbies include music, playing and listening, sports, science, and reading. She tries to be out-of-doors as often as possible.

Going to college to "probably study marine biology" is in Barbara's future. She'd also like to travel — "any place new or different."

Community Group Plans Cable TV Proposal Meet

Communications, Unlimited will sponsor a meeting April 24, from 10 a.m. until noon at 560 El Camino Real, San Bruno, to discuss its recent proposal to manage local origination of San Bruno's Cable Television.

The meeting is to be open to the public.

The proposal covers three main points:

—To insure local control of the studio, that a board of directors be organized from the people and agencies serving San Bruno.

—That the facilities be used as a training ground for the community.

—That programs would be designed to answer community needs.

"In an area like San Bruno, residents should be made aware that locally originated cable TV is practically the only way to reach a large portion of the community within minutes after a happening," said Executive Director Helen Kinel.

"Cable TV is not an expensive toy, but a necessary means of communications," she said.

Communications, Unlimited also will sponsor a public relations clinic April 19, at 560 El Camino Real, San Bruno, from 9:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

PROMOTED

Marine Pfc. David M. Proto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmelo C. Proto of 137 Longford Drive, South San Francisco, has been promoted to his present rank while serving with Marine Aviation Training Support Group 90 at the Naval Air Station, Millington, Tenn.

Any eligible woman interested in becoming a member of the Daughters of the American Revolution may contact the chapter's registrar, Mrs. Rowland H. Wilford, at 342-6081.

Mrs. Thomas F. Meagher, Millbrae, will be the presiding officer at the meeting.

Dr. Marcus to Join Janeway at Symposium

Elliott Janeway, one of the nation's best known economists, will be the featured speaker at the First International Pharmaceutical Economic Symposium in San Francisco Saturday and Sunday, at the Stanford Court Hotel.

The luncheon speaker for April 19 will be Sanford Marcus, M.D., of Daly City, president of the Physicians Dentists Union, who will discuss "A Union to Unify Pharmacy." Moderators for the Saturday sessions will be Richard G. Welker, R.Ph., M.B.A., Texas Pharmaceutical Assn., and Albert I. # NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY A NEW CAR!

Don't be mislead by higher prices!!

DID YOU KNOW...

1. DID YOU KNOW... the value of your trade-in is at a 15-year high?
2. DID YOU KNOW... the 1975 models average up to 35% better gas mileage than older models?
3. DID YOU KNOW... maintenance costs are lower on 1975 models because of solid state ignition, engine improvements, and sealed bearings?
4. DID YOU KNOW... the 1975's are better values? Most are equipped with steel belted radial tires guaranteed for 40,000 miles of trouble free driving.
5. DID YOU KNOW... extended credit past 36 months is available through many dealers?
6. DID YOU KNOW... the 1975's have cleaner more efficient engines with exhaust cleaning by the new catalytic converter?
7. DID YOU KNOW... the costs of parts and labor to refurbish your present car, tires, tune-up, etc., make the 1975 models an even better buy?
8. DID YOU KNOW... your area new car dealers are ready to make some of the most attractive offers on 1975 models that you have seen in years?
9. DID YOU KNOW... your local new car dealers have the best selection of 1975 models, styles and options to choose from right now on their showroom floors?

FACT:

Back in the "good old days," 1954 for example, the average buyer spent 5.1 months of his income to pay for a standard size car.

Today the same comparable car takes only 4.4 months' pay and the buyer gets a lot more automobile in the bargain.

Inflation has increased the value of your present car. It's worth more in trade than you might think. Get a FREE appraisal from any of the value-conscious local dealers.
